

Biggest Bombing In Korea

UN Uses 500 Planes to Knock Out Big Electric Plants of Commies

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Five hundred Air Force, Navy and Marine planes today knocked out five major Communist hydro-electric plants and blacked out much of North Korea and parts of Manchuria in the biggest air raid of the Korean War.

Pilots said they saw more than 200 MIG jets parked on a Manchurian base within sight of one target, but all stayed on the ground. Every Allied plane returned safely, the Air Force said.

Lt. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, U. S. Fifth Air Force commander, said the joint air strike demonstrated "our mastery of the skies over North Korea."

The world's fourth largest hydro-electric plant at Suhoi, about 30 miles up the Yalu from the Communist MIG base at Antung, was knocked completely out of service. The Yalu separates Korea from Manchuria. All targets were in Korea.

Other planes smashed two generating stations at the Chosin Reservoir, where American Marine and the Seventh Division fought their bitter battle against the first waves of Chinese Communist troops in December, 1950.

The other two plants knocked out were on the Songchon River, approximately 18 miles north of Hamhung in eastern Korea.

Air Force and Marine planes from dozens of Korean bases teamed with Navy craft from the 27,000-carrier Boxer, Philippines Sea, Princeton and Bonhomme Richard. Pilots said smoke from the burning Suhoi plant blackened the skies over North Korea and Manchuria.

"We shorted about 10 million volts today," said Lt. William Taylor of Florence, Ala. "I'm sure it'll make the folks in my home town happy. Up until mid-afternoon my town had the fifth largest power plant (Wolsan Dam) in the world. This afternoon I have helped change its status to the fourth largest."

Fliers said the Communist anti-aircraft fire was heavy over Suhoi, but there was no aerial opposition. Two MIGs were spotted taking off from the Antung base, but they landed again seconds later.

The five plants destroyed supplied power to Mukden and other industrial areas in Manchuria and to virtually all of North Korea.

The great Suhoi project was completed by the Japanese in 1941 at a cost of nearly 100 million dollars. The dam was not damaged in the attack. It is nearly 3,000 feet long and rises 350 feet above the Yalu.

Power stations below the dam, which were destroyed, had capacity of 600,000 kilowatts, about 100,000 kilowatts, about 1,000 more than giant Bonneville Dam in the Pacific Northwest.

Col. John D. Nottingham of Houston, Tex., Fifth Air Force public information officer, said carrier planes and land-based Marine and Air Force craft swooped down on the power plants from all directions with rockets and high explosive armor-piercing bombs.

Nottingham said 28 Red MIG-15 jets were counted on the Communist airfield at Antung, Manchuria, within sight of the strikes on Suhoi. None of the MIGs challenged the fighter-bombers, which were escorted by F-86 Sabre jets and Navy Panther jets.

Thirsty Earth Drinks Sedalia and Pettis County's first rain in almost a month — except for a half dozen or so drops that dripped in on an occasion or two — came Saturday night. It might not have been one of the million dollar varieties, but it was most welcome.

Measuring 1.02 inches, the rain was accompanied by considerable wind, but little damage was reported locally from the gusts that did much damage in some towns of a two-state area.

Saturday and Sunday were both mild days, as summer made its debut, but the respite from the heat was brief. Monday was another scorcher and the forecasts say we're in for more heat. Highs for the week may run to 100 daily and the nights will not go below 70 degrees.

Continued Warm Generally fair, warm and windy tonight and Tuesday. Low tonight near 75. High Tuesday in the 90s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 73 degrees; 93 at 1 p. m., and 95 at 2 p. m. Rainfall Saturday night 1.02 inches.

Kerr Declares He Can Unite Dems And Lead Party to Fall Victory

Kerr Will Speak Wednesday Night At Liberty Park

Senator Kerr will be the speaker at the state-wide Democratic rally which will be held at Liberty Park here on Wednesday night.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Oklahoma's Sen. Robert S. Kerr maintained yesterday he is not a sectional candidate, declaring: "I can unite the Democratic Party and lead it to victory in November."

Kerr's remarks came at the NBC television presentation of "Hats in the Ring" which gives a weekly half-hour alternately to the competing candidates and parties.

"I am neither sectional, sensational nor single," he said. "But I am safe and sound and I think I can offer the best basis of unity within the Democratic Party and in the country."

He added: "The Republican Party has no program and never was more divided than it is today. They do say they want to clean up Washington, yet they are spending all their time accusing each other of more things than they could hope to clean up in a lifetime."

Kerr advocated price supports at 100 per cent parity for basic farm products and restated his opposition to many features of the Taft-Hartley Law.

Without mentioning any names, Kerr commented: "We don't seem to have any talking generals on our side but we have great majority of the enlisted men and that's one more reason why we will win."

Later, appearing on the National Broadcasting Company's "Meet the Press" TV show, Kerr's voice got an edge in it when Columnist Doris Fleeson pressed him with questions about his stand on civil rights.

She said he had voted with a "coalition" of Southern Democrats in defeating a Senate procedural move that would have allowed civil rights proposals to reach the floor.

Kerr, his lips tightening, leaned forward and said: "I've noticed something about you lovely ladies of the press."

"Whenever you approve of something that's done by the Senate, it's a group of patriotic statesmen doing righteousness. But whenever you disapprove anything they do, you brand it a coalition."

He said he had voted "against no civil rights legislation since I came to the Senate."

Leslie Carpenter, of the Houston Chronicle, asked Kerr about a statement he made last fall that there was as much chance of his becoming president as his becoming a mother.

Said Carpenter: "You've been becoming more expectant all the time. But how can you deliver by July?"

Kerr agreed that it would take "a miracle if I became either" president or a mother, but that "if a kindly providence is disposed to do a miracle for me, I hope it happens in a Chicago."

He said he thought such a miracle was "entirely probable."

Kerr, an Oklahoma City oil man, was asked at one point whether he or Averell Harriman, another candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, were the richer.

"I'll have to yield to Mr. Harriman," Kerr said. "But his was forced upon him, he couldn't avoid it. But that doesn't keep him from being a great liberal. But when, with malice aforethought, you make your own, that seems to make you a part of the vested interests."

Kerr added he'd match his record on liberal, progressive legislation against anyone's.

Probe Finds No Price-Fixing In Liquor Sales

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators disclosed today the Justice Department looked into the liquor industry three years ago and found no evidence of a price-fixing conspiracy but a "high degree of concentration" in the industry.

The disclosure was made by Stephen Mitchell, counsel for a House Judiciary subcommittee investigating the Justice Department.

Mitchell made public a statement by the department explaining why it did not bring anti-trust charges against the liquor industry.

The Justice probe, Mitchell said, came after the department heard rumors that political contributions had been made by leaders of the industry in 1948.

Mitchell said the rumors were to the effect that these alleged contributions would be "a bar to an anti-trust suit." The originators of the rumors were not named.

The subcommittee, which is headed by Rep. Chief D-Ky called William Levitt, an analyst for the Federal Trade Commission, as the leadoff witness in its probe of Justice's role in the liquor inquiry.

Mitchell said three committee investigators have been studying the liquor industry since early this month "to determine whether a thorough investigation would be fruitful."

"This hurried and limited activity," Mitchell said, "has developed substantial evidence that will be presented by witnesses during these hearings."

Presidential Board Requests Getting Materials from Abroad

Recommends Laws That Prevent Nation From Buying Raw Materials be Scrapped To Get What We Need for War and Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential board today recommended that the United States scrap laws which prevent other nations from selling America the raw materials she needs for war and peace.

The United States should make a cellar-to-attic search—at home and abroad—for sources of materials, said a formal report by the President's Materials Policy Commission.

This country already is unable to supply her own needs, the board said, and by 1975 may be compelled to import one-fifth of the material it consumes. The report recommended that stockpiling be put on a permanent basis.

The commission, after 18 months research, said it is seriously con-

Both Welch, Donnelly Here For Big Rally

Sooner Senator To Speak Here Wednesday Night

Both Democratic candidates for the nomination of governor of Missouri will be here Wednesday night for the state-wide Democratic Picnic and Rally to be held at Liberty Park.

Sen. Kerr of Oklahoma will be the principal speaker.

Phil M. Donnelly, Lebanon, and Phil J. Welch, St. Joseph, have notified the committee in charge of the event they will be here to meet friends in the interest of their races for the party's nomination as chief executive.

Stuart Symington, candidate for United States senator from Missouri, had planned to be present for the occasion, but the death of his mother-in-law has forced him to cancel his reservation. He notified Sedalians Sunday afternoon.

Previous commitments are preventing J. E. "Buck" Taylor, another senatorial candidate, from being present.

Other state candidates are indicating they will be present and J. W. Watts, general chairman, reports the attendance will be large. He expects far more than half of the state democratic aspirants to be on hand.

Committees named to be in charge of the many phases of the evening's entertainment, which opens with a parade and includes a basket dinner as well as the speaking, are at work now completing all the details.

Some 5,000 persons are expected to attend with the many candidates.

The event is being sponsored by the Democratic Action Committee of Pettis County with the cooperation of the city and county Democratic Central Committees, the Young Democrats Club and the Pettis County Women's Democratic Club.

Three Western Allies Charge Reds Violate Agreement At Berlin

BONN, Germany (AP)—The three Western Allies charged in a note today the Russians violated 4-power agreements by restricting Allied use of the international highway to Berlin.

The American, British and French high commissioners for Germany sent identical notes to Gen. Vasily Chuikov, Soviet commander in East Germany, demanding that the Russians lift a month-old ban on British and American military police patrols along the 110 mile highway leading from the Western zones through Soviet Zone territory to Berlin.

The report, released on the eve of the group's annual convention here, said last year saw a resurgence of racial violence throughout the country "in a desperate attempt to halt the progress made toward attainment of a democratic society in recent years."

"Benighted elements resorted to a new instrument of terror—the hate bomb," the NAACP report said, citing bomb explosions in Birmingham, Dallas, Atlanta, Nashville and in California and Florida.

British Defense Minister Discusses New War, Truce

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain's defense minister, Lord Alexander of Tunis, talked with U. S. military leaders today about the stepped-up war and the stalled search for a truce in Korea.

The talks are part of broader U. S.-British-French conferences on the whole world situation.

Secretary of State Acheson is in London for discussion with the British and French foreign ministers.

Alexander conferred with Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs, and top service leaders as a preliminary to a luncheon-business session with Secretary of Defense Lovett.

The British field marshal came here from Korea and conferences with the Allied supreme commander in the Far East, Gen. Mark W. Clark.

Acheson's mission abroad is expected to center around problems in Europe and the Middle East. Alexander is expected to talk about Korea with top level officials here.

His most important conferences are expected to be in London, with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister

Robert Schuman, and later with George Kennan, new U. S. ambassador to Moscow.

The Big Three talks have no fixed schedule of subjects, but authorities say they will cover the range of common interests. These include Germany, relations with Russia and conditions in Egypt and Iran and possibly Korea.

Acheson's visit to Brazil, a the invitation of Foreign Minister Neves de Fontaunara, will be his first to that country.

Alexander's visit to Washington follows a tour of the Korean War fronts, and discussions here are expected to center around the Korean situation.

On arriving yesterday from his battlefield survey, he told reporters: "I was very impressed by what I saw. I think you're running a good show."

Alexander—a World War II commander whose title is Field Marshal the Earl Alexander of Tunis—scheduled a busy round of conferences today with Secretary of Defense Lovett, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and others.

Truman Promises 'No T-H'

Murray of Steel Union Says Chief Said No Injunction Would Be Called

GARY, Ind. (AP)—CIO steelworker boss Philip Murray said yesterday that President Truman assured him last December "you need have no fear" of a Taft-Hartley injunction if the union would postpone its scheduled Jan. 1 strike.

And he called Inland Steel President Clarence Randall a "liar" for saying that Murray and Truman had "made a deal."

Murray addressed an audience of 7,500 at a steelworkers rally in this community of 130,000. About 27,000 persons in Gary and adjoining East Chicago earn their livelihood in the steel mills.

The steelworkers' head said President Truman told him: "If you will voluntarily agree to a suspension of the strike I believe you need have no fear of the courts imposing on your members the so-called Taft-Hartley injunction procedure."

The strike was postponed, government seizure followed and a workers stayed on the job until after adverse court decisions on the seizure.

Steelworkers have been on strike three weeks, since the U. S. Supreme Court ruled government seizure of the industry illegal. President Truman has not started Taft-Hartley Act injunction proceedings to stop it. A resolution urging him to do so has passed the Senate.

Before an overflow audience including steelworkers, politicians, mayors of the two hard-hit steel towns and Lt. Gov. John Watkins of Indiana, the president of the steelworkers union:

1. Accused major steel producers of "a conspiracy" to prolong the steel strike.

2. Criticized Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for voicing opinions on the steel strike when "he could hardly know the facts." Murray in particular objected to this remark he attributed to the candidate for the Republican presidential nomination: "Why don't they use the Taft-Hartley Law?"

3. Attacked the industry's reluctance to give the union's $30,000 strike fund members a union shop.

4. Said it would be "unjust to expect the steelworkers to undergo an 80-day strike injunction under the Taft-Hartley Law since they have already delayed the original strike 153 days on the request of the president."

5. Did not say what the union's position would be if the Taft-Hartley Act were invoked.

6. Predicted the steelworkers will win the strike regardless of "what kind of suppressive weapon may be used against you."

The bald, ruddy leader was bitter in his denunciation of Randall, he accused the steel executive of "deliberately lying" in saying Murray and Truman "made a deal." Murray said he "had respect for the office of President than any to do such a thing."

Further, said Murray, when Randall later denied making such a statement, "I called him a liar again."

Murray said the union and the industry have resolved the major part of their fight over a wage increase. The main obstacle to settlement now is the union's demand for union shop, under which all workers would be compelled to join the union.

He said the industry claims it is "a matter of principle not to grant a union shop, but U. S. Steel alone has 300,000 members of other unions under union shop."

He specifically mentioned union shop contracts with AFL seamen on U. S. Steel ships, with railroad unions and building trades unions. Referring only to U. S. and Inland Steel companies by name, Murray said, "A coalition of six major steel companies which produce 75 per cent of steel tonnage in the country" is blocking settlement of the strike.

Several steel companies are willing to negotiate contracts, he said, but are prevented by fear of economic reprisal.

The final event, the Brahma bull riding contest, was won by Joe McNitt of Seneca, Neb. Second place went to Charley Beals and third to John Burnham of Lubbock, Tex. Only three of Sunday's riders placed and they were the only three to stay on a bull for the 10 seconds required. The averages of the four performances placed John Burnham first in the bull riding contest with Buddy Peak second, Joe McNitt third and Charley Beals, fourth.

Prize winners in the bullriding were: First, John Burnham, who received $158.44; second, Buddy Peak, $111.84; third, Joe McNitt, $67.57; fourth, Charley Beals, $55.92; fifth, Tex. Martin, $27.96; sixth, Waddy Neighbors, Fairmont, Kan. $18.64 and seventh, Lester Birky, $9.32.

The money which is won by the participants is very important to them for more than the regular reasons. Each dollar they win is credited to them in the Rodeo Cowboy Association and on the basis of the number of points a cowboy wins in a year, the year's champion cowboy is named.

Chester Brown, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the event, said the affair was very successful and that the Chamber of Commerce appreciated all the help which was given to make the rodeo possible.

The condition of the arena was dangerous and many of the horses and cattle took spills before they were too far out of the chutes.

A crowd of nearly 3,000 watched the slippery performance which was slowed down considerably by the arena conditions.

The high point in the show came in the Brahma bull riding contest when Tex. Martin, Alpine, Tex., was thrown from the bull and struck in the face by the bull's horns. He was carried from the arena by several of the attendants and was treated at the Gillespie ambulance which was on duty. He was only slightly injured, receiving a slight cut over his right eye.

The winners Sunday in the bare back riding were: First, Tex. Martin, Alpine, Tex.; second, Bob Erickson, Windsor, Calif.; third, Bud Spealman, Kansas City, Kan. and fourth, Buddy Peak, Shoshone, N. B. The averages in this contest to determine the champion bare-back bronc rider found Bud Spealman in first place, John Gillespie Burwell, Neb., second; Buddy Peak, third and Tex. Martin, fourth.

The prize money in this event went to Bud Spealman, who received $174.96; Tex. Martin $106.92; John Gillespie $77.76; Buddy Peak $58.32; Bob Erickson $48.60 and Tuffy Barent, Seneca, Neb. $19.44.

Slow times were recorded in the first roping events Sunday with first place going to Floyd Hendricks of Broken Arrow, Okla., with the time of 13 seconds flat. Second place went to Buddy May of Ochelata, Okla., who hobbled his calf in 14.8 seconds; Carlos Burns of Meta, Mo., who tied his calf in 16.4 seconds and fourth to Royce Sewalt of Afton, Tex., who completed his calf tying in 16.6 seconds. The averages which determined the champions of the rodeo in calf roping placed Buddy May, who roped his four calves in 53.7 seconds, first; second was Bob Wilson, Tucson, Ariz., third Royce Sewalt, who roped his four calves in 69.3 seconds and fourth, Jim Snively, a Miami, Okla., cowboy, who averaged 83.5 seconds.

The prize money in this event was split among nine contestants with Buddy May taking first honors and winning $214.80. Others who won and the amounts which they received were: Floyd Hendricks $114.56; Royce Sewalt $85.92; Red Martin, Coliad, Tex. $85.92; Bob Wilson $71.60; Jim Snively $57.28; Ray Killgore, Salisaw, Okla. $28.64; Kandy Anderson, Wichita, Kan., $28.64 and Carlos Burns of Meta, Mo. $28.64.

In the saddle bronc riding, first honors were taken Sunday by Ken Hargis of Natural Dam, Ark.; second, Tex. Martin; third, Bud Spealman; fourth, by Tom Tibbitts of Ft. Pierre, S. D. and Bob Erickson of Windsor, Calif. The champion of the saddle bronc riding for the rodeo was Tex. Martin. Second place went to Bob Erickson; third Bud Spealman and fourth Ken Hargis.

Prize money in this event went to Tex. Martin, who was first with $158.72; Bob Erickson, $94.24; Bud Spealman, $79.36; Ken Hargis, $69.44; Lester Birky, Devalon, Ill. $39.68; Tom Tibbitts $24.80; Charley Beals, Tulsa, Okla., $19.84.

The bull dogging contest brought some fast times despite the condition of the arena and first place honors went to Jack Pendleton of Vaxahachie, Tex., who completed his throw in 5.4 seconds. Second place winner Grant Hansen of Arcadia, Neb., missed a tie by .1 second and was timed at 5.5 seconds. Third place went to Kandy Anderson, timed at 5.9 seconds and fourth place went to Joe Stienka, brother of the rodeo owner, who completed his throw in 6 seconds flat.

The $134.54 in first place money went to Kandy Anderson in this event. The other winners and their prizes were Jack Pendleton $112.20; Lester Birky, Devalon, Ill. $39.68; Tom Tibbitts $24.80; Charley Beals, Tulsa, Okla., $19.84.

Death in the Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

XII
WITH Sergeant Duncan entering with me, no explanation was required for our absence from the lodge. Duncan disappeared after that and Dr. David Roberts told me that Duncan had set a guard at both entrances to the cave to protect Mrs. Ordell.

Only the hermit would be permitted to enter the cave. This seemed strange to me. Why didn't they move poor Mrs. Ordell back to the lodge and safety? It seemed terrible to let the professor, her husband, go on grieving.

It was not quite noon, but the musical jangle of the dinner bell came pleasantly from the kitchen. Rhumba came waddling toward the lodge, striking an iron rod on the triangle as she walked.

"I've got to talk to Dr. Roberts," she said.

"Rhumba," said florid Mr. James, "whatever you have to say to Dr. Roberts can be postponed till later."

"No, it can't, Mr. James. I've got to talk to him now."

"Rhumba," Mr. James wheezed angrily, "go back to the kitchen or you'll be fired."

"Fire away, Mr. James. I can go to work at Fallen Leaf Lake anytime I want." Rolling her eyes angrily, she caught David by the arm and propelled him toward the fireplace. Duncan followed and I, not wanting to miss anything, came along.

"This ain't for you all," Rhumba said emphatically, eyeing Sergeant Duncan and me.

"You can talk freely in front of Sergeant Duncan and Miss Curtis, Rhumba," said Dr. Roberts.

Rhumba sniffed, then said, "I know who's the murderer. 'But I ain't tellin'."

"But why did you tell me even this much?" asked David.

"Because you're a G-man. I heard Mr. Margard talkin' to you about it, Sergeant." Duncan set his mouth in a thin line and glared at the cook.

Here, then, was what David had started to tell me in the tent.

"Yes, Rhumba, I'm a federal investigator. I didn't come to Gold Lake to solve a murder mystery, but since I'm here, I'm helping. And if you know anything, I'm sure you understand that you must help too."

"Mr. James killed Mrs. Ordell. I saw him run from the Ordell tent just before she screamed. He told me he was openin' sugar for me, but he went to the Ordell tent after that. And what's more, he put white powder on a slab of meat that looked mighty like the meat you found in your tent, Miss Curtis. Mr. James is a no-account man, I tell you."

Dr. Roberts looked at the sergeant. I thought I detected a wink. Then the doctor turned back to Rhumba and said, "Thanks for telling us this. We'll see if we can follow it up."

JEFF and Dick and old Pete Dupres brought up a string of horses to the door of the lodge. Duncan asked Jeff, Ordell, Miss Hansen, David Roberts and me to mount. I heard him give orders to Margard to find James and to hold him.

Dr. Roberts rode beside me. He smiled at me reassuringly and, leaning from his saddle, he said in a low voice, "See if you can find the three trees. I believe I know where they are."

Sergeant Duncan beckoned Ordell to ride beside him and the professor jockeyed up to the head of the procession. David said that both Duncan and the professor thought they knew where the trees stood. I wondered how Duncan explained to the professor how he gained his information about the map.

It seemed that Miss Hansen and

Jeff knew, too, and they pointed this way and that whenever three trees grew somewhat close together. But Duncan and Roberts refused to take their ideas seriously.

I noticed that the professor began to talk a bit, too. The excitement of treasure hunting and the healing pine-scented air were helping to take his mind from his sorrow.

Finally we reached the almost level top of the high difficult ridge and stopped to rest our horses.

Not far from the edge of a cliff stood the burned trunk of an old pine.

Sergeant Duncan dismounted and unbuckled a short-handled spade from his saddle. "Well, folks, here we are. You see, the timber noted on the map was old when that map was made, so it seems reasonable to believe that in the years that have passed the trees may have fallen."

Sergeant Duncan stepped off the distance between the spring and the base of the burned pine. David brought a graph-map from his pocket.

It was then that it dawned upon me that David knew about the map before I told him.

THE little group moved eagerly near to the doctor as spadeful after spadeful of earth piled up, enlarging the hole.

Carefully, David brushed and dug away the black earth that surrounded a rounded top, iron banded, wooden trunk that was really not much larger than a doll's trunk.

The men bent to lift the treasure from its grave—when the sharp report of a revolver set the mountains ringing with echoes and repercussions of impending danger.

We turned to see the bandanna-masked figure holding a pistol at his head. His hat was pulled low and he wore a heavy mackinaw, jeans tucked into high-jacked boots.

He spoke very softly, and with deadly seriousness. "I want that gold. Get back from it, all of you. You, Roberts, lift up that box. If you, you moves a finger toward me, I'll kill him."

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The City Light and Traction Company announced that a try-out was to be given on transportation by buses. The first of that kind of service was to be on the Thirteenth and Sixteenth lines of the street roadway.

An organization the Sedalia Area of Boy Scouts of America filed articles of association in the recorder's office. One of its chief purposes was to purchase an outing place for the Boy Scouts.

Addalla Grotto arranged for a big open air ceremonial, barbecue and picnic at Warsaw on July 4.

Robert S. Clough, county farm agent, was at Waynesville, Mo.,

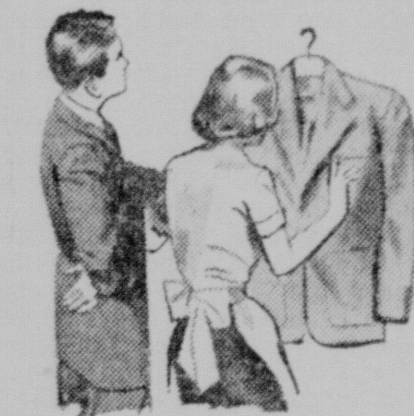

mittee did undertake the probe, it dealt ever so gently with Senator Brewster, and with his close friend, Mystery Man Henry Grunewald. The latter literally thumbed his nose at the Senate, yet he was not cited for contempt, and it was left to the forthright King Committee almost two years later to call the tune on Grunewald.

Even the King Committee, however, dealt O! So tenderly with the Senator from Maine, did not cross-examine him when he brought in his belated explanation for receiving checks from Grunewald for $10,000. For Brewster was a member of the club.

However, these and a great many other facts about the Senator from Maine; about his association with "Jersey Joe" Charles Patrick Clark, the Lobbyist for Franco; and about his trip to Venezuela on behalf of Clark, have been published by this column. They were published only after a great deal of meticulous digging.

And the people of Maine, now able to get all the facts, have finally decided that Senator Brewster no longer deserves to be a member of the club.

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

A group of friends were planning a surprise party for the birthday anniversary of a Sedalia woman who thought she had already had a wonderful day because she was wearing her first orchid, but she did know her bridge club was meeting and she felt it her duty to go help the hostess get ready for it.

Her husband insisted she go to the ballgame with him and although she tried to explain her duty to her friend who was having the party her husband kept insisting she go to the ballgame. She knew he loved her but his devotion had never been so great before that he just couldn't enjoy something because she wasn't along. He seemed so desperately unhappy because she didn't want to go to the ballgame that she finally gave in and went—but all the time she worried about her friend who was trying to get ready for the club without her and she knew she should be helping.

Unable to take the ballgame any longer she said she just had to go help with the party and it was a surprised friend when she couldn't in—it took fast work to hide the gift and the birthday cake in time.

Then the people began arriving, people she didn't expect and then she was given the cake and the gift—so what does she do but burst into tears—not an ounce of her usual poise—just loud sobs and lots of tears.

The hostess and the guests sat looking on bewildered—they didn't know what to do—but her husband just sat and smiled. "She's all right," he said. "She's just happy—she always does this when she is happy."

And so they all sat around and watched her cry for they knew she was really having a happy birthday.

Where they came from she couldn't seem to find, although they looked like the kind that sometimes are on the newspaper, but the boys insisted that they were type lice. She scratched until she got every body else to itching, but she had a better story than hers to tell. One of the very hot days lately,

Smithton Garden Club Has Flower Show on June 19

The Smithton Garden Club held a flower show June 19, the theme of which was "Serene Beauty." It took much fortitude and the spirit of the pioneer forefathers to arrange a flower show when weather conditions were as bad as they have been the past few weeks, with flowers practically burned up from the hot sun and dry weather, but the date had been set so the women went on with the show.

The show, of which Mrs. Audrey Neumeier was chairman, was a success. Her committee was composed of Mrs. Euel Muschaney, Miss Laura Kruse and Mrs. Norman Wehmeier.

The entertainment committee, composed of Mrs. Albert Neumeier, Mrs. M. E. Williamson, Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. Norman Wehmeier, Mrs. B. F. Mahnken, served a luncheon to the judges, Mrs. M. F. Clyde, regional president; Mrs. Clauser and Mrs. McNeel, all of near Marshall. Also, garden club members receiving and placing flowers and arrangements.

Mrs. Virgil Quint, chairman of the classification and receiving arrangements, registered 76 different arrangements.

How to Plan Fish Party

By Mrs. Lynn Russell
405 Dal-Whi-Mo

Perhaps you are a fisherman or have a fisherman in the family. Use for a centerpiece a bowl of gold fish or flat six inch high glass dish (plain) with several gold fish in it. If you want the effect of a pool, dwarf sanvierias can be grouped at a corner of the bowl.

If you are artistic, place cards with fish or rod or reels can be drawn. If you are not, pictures may be cut out of magazines of fishermen, fish, etc., and glued to cards.

Fish and all the trimmings served for your dinner can be planned as you please.

Fishing clothes may be worn for the dressup dinner if the guests like to do that.

Fish spoon dishes for the kitchen stove and fish ash trays make cute awards for games.

Eldorado Club Women Tell of Persons Whom They Admire

Thirteen members of Eldorado Extension Club answered roll call June 18 with "a person I admire". Most members admired people who were friendly and could meet everyone on the same level.

Mrs. F. D. Wolfe was hostess.

The club letter from Mrs. Catherine Zimmerman was read. It contained a brief report of Miss Dickerson's trip to Brazil. She stated that the clothing styles are as they were 35 years ago in this country and that the people knew very little about food preservation or nutrition values.

Mrs. Jim Pace and Mrs. Cletis Allen presented a cooking lesson. Two guests were present, Mrs. Bertie Ragar and Mrs. Elmer Bailey.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Tony Smith, July 23.

First Catalog Of Fair Goes To Higbee Man

The first shipment of Missouri State Fair premium catalogs—almost three tons of them—were mailed to exhibitors all over the United States from the fairgrounds this week.

The 296 page book contains complete information for all exhibitors and race horse owners interested in competing for $201,748.50 in premiums.

The first copy was sent to C. W. Terrill, Higbee, who is one of the fair supporters who has attended the fair every year since 1901. About 12,000 copies of the gold-covered book will be distributed this year. Initial mailing went to persons who have exhibited in the past two years; and anyone who would like to have a copy may get one free by writing to the State Fair, Sedalia.

The book contains all general rules and regulations concerning the fair, an entry blank and has a chapter devoted to each of the 24 fair departments. In addition, there are letters of welcome from President Truman, Gov. Forrest Smith, Senators Hennings and Kem, Commissioner of Agriculture Robert Thornburg, and Fair Secretary Rollo E. Singleton.

Closing dates for all livestock will be July 25; and most other departments close early in August.

May Launch A-Bombs From Air at Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A plan to launch small atomic bombs from the air against enemy aircraft was reported under study in high military circles as the key to a revolutionary air defense system of the future.

Air Force Magazine, unofficial but usually well informed, said authorities believe with the addition of this atomic weapon American air defenses can knock down 95 per cent of attacking enemy planes under any conditions.

The magazine said currently the United States can count on destroying no more than 5 per cent at night or in bad weather.

The small atomic bombs would be delivered either by pilotless aircraft having a range of several hundred miles or by large patrol planes carrying atomic anti-aircraft rockets.

Young Dance Teacher Found Dead In Hotel

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—A note in Spanish started police to what they believe is the solution of the brutal slaying of an attractive 30-year old brunette dance teacher.

The body of Mrs. Irene Thompson, clad only in panties, was discovered yesterday in a semi-kneeling position in the middle of a downtown hotel room.

The note, found in the room, was a love poem. On the note was a sketch of a samba dancer with the words, "why don't we do the samba?"

Mrs. Thompson's face was buried in a pillow, her mouth gagged with cloth. An electric iron cord was around her neck and part of a broken soda bottle was stuck in the side of her throat.

A few hours after a bellboy discovered the body, Circuit Attorney Edward Dowling issued a murder warrant against Jose Bartolome Romero, 23-year old Mexican, last reported in Oklahoma.

The body was discovered after the victim's husband, William E. Thompson in Boston on business, was unable to reach her by telephone. He asked hotel officials to investigate.

Lt. Nick Kube, head of the homicide squad and Sgt. Edward Kelly related the following: Mrs. Thompson had worked at a local dance studio until recently and had been friends with two Mexicans, once dance students. One of the men, when questioned, said Romero had an affair with Mrs. Thompson.

A handwriting expert said writing on the note resembled samples of Romero's writing. They quoted a roommate of Romero's as saying Romero telephoned from somewhere in Oklahoma Saturday night and said he was going to Denver or Mexico.

Mrs. Thompson's mother, Mrs. Annie Harris, of suburban Kirkwood, told police she was caring for the Thompson's two-year-old daughter while the younger woman moved in 1952. He did not commit himself on other years.

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, his party's leader in the Senate, sounded a note of warning: Republicans can lose this year, he said, "if we enter the campaign bickering or divided."

It was Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, leading in the delegate count for the Democratic presidential nomination, who called the GOP strife a bar-room slugfest.

"Such accusations between two leading Republican candidates broke up the American honor," Kefauver told a fund-raising dinner in Chicago last night. "I have no doubt it will be exploited by Soviet propagandists."

Other Democratic aspirants spoke out, too. Averell Harriman blasted both leading GOP contenders for promising tax cuts. Senators Richard B. Russell of Georgia and Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma took the stump in their own behalf.

But their utterances mostly were lower-pitched than those in the GOP arena.

Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, formerly Gen. Douglas MacArthur's right hand man in Japan, parted political company with his old chief and came out for Eisenhower.

William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France and Russia, spoke up for Taft. He declared in a television debate: "It would be as silly to choose Eisenhower as president as it would be to choose Taft to head the western European Army."

Bullitt's opponent, Rep. Judd (R-Minn.), contended Eisenhower is the man who can do the job and would get the votes.

An Associated Press poll sought to establish which candidate would get California's 70-delegate support as a second choice to Gov. Earl Warren. All declined to state a preference except for one who said he's for Eisenhower and another who said he would back Taft.

Taft, planning to dine in Baltimore tonight with Maryland's 24-member delegation, stood pat on his claim that already he has a few more than 600 votes lined up for the first ballot at Chicago.

It takes 604 to win. The broad chorus of scoffs from the oppositionists.

Said Walter Williams of Seattle, national chairman of Citizens for Eisenhower, on CBZ television's "Man of the Week" yesterday: "From information we have, I have little reason to doubt that we will have more votes on the first ballot than Senator Taft."

The Associated Press tabulation gave Taft 467 votes to date. Eisenhower 392. This is based on avowed and conceded pledges of support.

On the Democratic side, Harry Truman declared in a speech at Helena, Mont., that the leading Republican candidates are "bartering with our security in exchange for votes."

He said of the GOP: "They say we can't afford our survival. They say we can't afford to conserve our soil or harness our rivers for the benefit of all the people. They say we can't afford to stabilize the income of our farmers."

"I say we can't afford not to do those things."

GOP Battle for Delegates Holds Despite Warning of Party Split

By The Associated Press
A front-running Democrat called it a "bar-room slugfest." A leading Republican warned that too much bickering can lose the election for the party. But the GOP battle for delegates went on today as noisily as ever.

It even left physical violence in its wake in an outlying sector. Fighting broke out in Puerto Rico Sunday as Republicans chose two rival 3-member delegations to the national convention in Chicago, July 7. The delegations are uncommitted but one reportedly favors Sen. Robert A. Taft and the other Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidential nomination.

Police quelled the disturbance but the question of which delegation will be seated is just one more to be fought out in Chicago—like the question of Texas' holly disputed delegation, among others.

Election of Republican delegates ends today with the choosing of 10 in Illinois to complete the state's slate of 60 Taft was expected to widen his lead there. Of the 50 already chosen, he has 49 to Eisenhower's one.

Democrats name 22 delegates today in Indiana, 48 others in various states later in the week for their convention opening July 21.

Taft forces struck back in newspaper ads today at Eisenhower's Dallas charge that the Ohioan's backers stole Texas' 38 convention votes as brazenly as cattle rustlers.

Eisenhower, before flying from Texas back to Denver, made a new effort to puncture the claim that he is a Truman candidate. He flatly denied at a news conference that the president ever offered to back him for the 1952 Democratic presidential nomination.

The general also said he would not consider any deal to make him the Democratic candidate if he loses the fight for the GOP nomination.

As for running on a third party ticket—some Texans have talked of this, should Eisenhower lose in Chicago—the general said he would have no part of such a move in 1952. He did not commit himself on other years.

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, his party's leader in the Senate, sounded a note of warning: Republicans can lose this year, he said, "if we enter the campaign bickering or divided."

Chiefs Take Flag for Half Season

Down Columbia
Here Sunday Night
7-6 In 12 Innings

The Sedalia Ban Johnson Chiefs captured the flag for the first half of the CEMO league play by defeating the Columbia Chevrolet 7-6 in twelve innings Sunday night at Liberty Park. Jack Barnes, ace relief pitcher for the Chiefs, came in in the first of the ninth with one run in, one out and a man on second, to make the first batter to face him ground out, third to first, the runner holding his base. The next man struck out to end the inning with the score tied at 6-6.

The Chiefs scored their final tally as Barnes singled, Sonny Thomas reached first on the Columbia shortstop's fourth error, Bob Brown batted for Don Higgins and fled to the right fielder. Dey then singled sharply to center to load the bases. Holst lined to the right fielder, who was playing in close to hold the runners. "Red" Weist, who had connected for three hits already, then smashed a low line drive into center-field which the centerfielder, Bob Musgrave, could not hold after getting his glove on it, scoring Jack Barnes.

This was Barnes third victory against no defeats, as he allowed but four hits, one walk and struck out six in the three and two-thirds innings he worked. Bill Arnold started the game and allowed 12 hits for six runs, one a circuit blow by Durwood in the seventh with no one on. This was the second time Arnold was knocked out by the Columbians. Poore was the loser, although he held the Sedalias scoreless from the eighth until the twelfth.

The Chiefs started their scoring in the fifth as Thomas walked. Higgins struck out, Dey reached first on an error by the shortstop. Holst walked and Weist then singled to drive in Thomas and Dey. Holst was out at third. Lane then struck out to end the inning.

Chiefs rallied in the seventh for four runs as Thomas led off by getting to first on the third baseman's error. Dey and Higgins walked, loading the bases and Holst walked, forcing in Thomas. Weist walked, forcing in Higgins. Then Lane singled to score Dey and Holst scored on a passed ball. Broadus walked and Cochran grounded out, third to first, to end the inning.

The Columbians scored in the third for one run on three hits and in the fourth for one run on three hits. They tallied one in the seventh on a home run and two in the eighth on a hit batsman, a single and a triple.

In the ninth the Chevrolet's first man popped to the second baseman. The next man doubled and the third man singled the run home. That was all for Arnold and Barnes came in to set down the last two batters.

John "Red" Weist and Don Higgins led the Chiefs' hitting attack getting three for seven and two for four respectively.

Poore led the Columbia hitters with three for three.

Berra's Bat Puts Yankees In First Spot

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Larry (Yogi) Berra's ability to fill the departed Joe DiMaggio's shoes is the big reason why the New York Yankees are winging their way to their fourth successive American League pennant.

The slugging catcher, off to a ragged start due to a hand injury, has been hotter than 100 degrees in the dugout during the past two weeks. As a result, the Yankees have swept past both Cleveland and the Boston Red Sox into first place.

In the last 14 games, Berra has hammered 10 home runs, driven in 20 of his team's 68 runs and personally accounted for eight of their nine victories. That's reminiscent of DiMaggio at his best.

It was a four-bagger by Berra yesterday that snapped a six-inning scoreless duel between Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox and Bob Kuzava of the Yankees and gave him the home run lead of the league at 14. The Yankees went on to win the opener, 3-0. They lost the second, 2-1, but retained their two-game lead when the fourth place Indians swept a twin bill from the Red Sox, 7-0 and 5-4.

The split also proved a boon to the White Sox, who jumped into second place, a half game in front of the Red Sox and Indians.

The second half of the American League remained unchanged as all four teams divided doubleheaders. The Washington Senators jumped to the top of the league with a 3-2 win. Detroit took a hard-fought 12-inning 4-3 decision from Philadelphia but the Athletics bounced back with a 9-0 triumph.

Rain cut the National League activity in half, forcing the postponement of the scheduled doubleheader between Chicago and the Giants in New York and the single affair in Brooklyn between Pittsburgh and the Dodgers.

Airtight hurling by southpaws Al Brazle and Harry Breechen gave the St. Louis Cardinals a pair of 7-2 victories over the Boston Braves while Cincinnati and Philadelphia split. The Reds copped the opener, 5-3, and the Phillies prevailed, 3-0, in the nightcap.

Blanked by Kuzava with two singles in the opener, the White Sox regained their winning ways in the second game when Marv Grissom outpitched the Yankees' Bill Miller. Eddie Robinson's two-out single in the eighth followed by Sherm Lollar's run-scoring double, broke a 1-1 tie and gave Chicago its 13th victory in the last 17 games.

Steve Gromek hurled a two-hit shutout for the Indians over Boston in the first game of their twin bill. A 48-minute delay because of rain caused Gromek's shoulder to tighten and Mickey Harris finished his shutout with a scoreless ninth inning.

Cards Take Two, Move Near Third Place; Meet Bums

By The Associated Press
Al Brazle and Harry Breechen, each delivered with a five-hit performance yesterday as the St. Louis Cardinals took a doubleheader from the Boston Braves, each game by a 7-2 score.

Thus the Cardinals have won 10 of the last 15 games—with Stan Musial extending his hitting streak to 19 consecutive games—and the Redbirds find themselves just two and a half games out of third place as they move to Brooklyn with a three-game series.

Brazle now has won five games, his last two as a starter, but Breechen's triumph was his first of the season. Brazle didn't allow a hit in the last four innings of the opener at Boston, and drove in two runs.

Musial Batted .339
Breechen didn't permit a Boston runner to get as far as second base after the first inning of the nightcap.

Musial, who collected three hits in the doubleheader, lifted his league-leading batting average to .339. His hitting during the past three weeks has put the Cardinals

Bob Hamilton Leads In PGA

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (P)—Bob Hamilton, carefree and cocky, moved solidly into the PGA title picture today with a razor-sharp game that he expected would "hold up all the way."

The hard-hitting Hoosier, the only former PGA champ left in the quarterfinal field, assured all comers he was very much in the mood to repeat in the manner that astounded Byron Nelson in 1944.

Hamilton and Chick Harbert from Northville, Mich., were the hottest shooters in yesterday's third round.

They survived with one-sided victories and joined these other prime stroke masters in the quarterfinal lineup.

Fred Haas Jr., a pro circuit regular from New Orleans; Frank Champ, a driving range pro from Houston; Clarence Doser, from Hartsdale, N.Y.; Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist; Jim Turnesa, from Briarcliff Manor, N.Y.; and Ted Kroll, another sharp-shooting New Yorker from New Hartford.

In today's 36-hole matches over the 6,620-yard Big Spring Course, it was Hamilton against Champ, Harbert against Haas, Doser against Turnesa and Middlecoff against Kroll.

Hamilton was at his peak yesterday as he plastered the veteran Vic Ghezzi from Inwood, Long Island, 9 and 8, the most one-sided margin of the 1952 tournament.

Harbert trimmed Henry Williams Jr. of Kutztown, Pa., 6 and 5; Doser won from Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va., 1-up; Turnesa took the measure of Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo, 5 and 4; Middlecoff eliminated Al Smith of Danville, Va., 4 and 2; Kroll edged by Ray Honsberger of Clarkston, Wash., 2 and 1; Haas had to go 38 holes to get by Mup Marusic of Herkimer, N.Y., 1-up; and Champ got by Walker Burkemo, last year's runner-up from Franklin, Mich., 3 and 1.

Hamilton, a former tourist on the pro circuit from Evansville, Ind., but now in his words, "a weekend golfer," played a flawless game in belting Ghezzi out of the tournament.

Browns Win and Lose
In St. Louis, the Browns lost the opener of a doubleheader to the Washington Senators 8-5 on errors, but came back to win the second game 3-2.

Pitcher Gene Bearden drove in the Browns' first run in the nightcap with a third-inning double, and set up their second run with a single in the fifth. A walk, a sacrifice and a single by Les Moss accounted for the deciding run in the sixth. Satch Paige went to the rescue, again, as Bearden weakened in the seventh.

The Browns trailed by only one run 4-3 going into the eighth inning of the opener, but kicked the game away in that inning with three errors.

Junior Legion To Waverly Tuesday Nite

The Post 16 Junior Legion team will journey to Waverly Tuesday to play the Waverly Junior Legion team. In the first meeting of these two, the Sedalia Legion came out on top by a score of 19 to 3, in which Don Delph was the winning pitcher.

All players are requested to be at the high school at 5:45 p. m. to leave for Waverly.

The Post 16 team has five wins and no losses for a season's record. Don Delph has won three and Jim Falls two games. Falls was a mound ace for the Legion last year while Delph was one of the Smith-Cotton Tigers main hurlers in the bid for the State High School championship.

Leading the regulars in hitting is Jimmy Falls with a .524 average, having 11 for 21. He is followed by Elroy Burton with .438. Falls will probably be on the hill for the Post 16 team Tuesday with Larry Mines doing the receiving. The Waverly lineup has not been announced.

Girl Signs Baseball Team Player's Contract Sunday

Harrisburg, Pa. (P)—Pretty Eleanor Engle went back to being a stenographer today to await reaction of horrified but amused males to her attempt to crash organized baseball as a player.

The 24-year-old shapely brunette, although armed with a contract from a minor league team, was certain that baseball diamonds are not a girl's best friend.

Not if the reception to her debut yesterday in the uniform of the Harrisburg Senators of the Class B Interstate League was any indication.

Manager Buck Etchison summed up one side of the male point of view with a firm:

"I won't have a girl playing for me. This is no-woman's land and believe me, I mean it."

It started Saturday when the club president, Dr. Jay Smith, announced the signing of Eleanor to a player's contract. So far, no one has disputed that she is the first girl ever signed.

Yesterday she showed up at the ball park to take batting and fielding practice. She hit a couple of smashes to the infield and took her turn at shortstop and second base.

The rest of her activity was limited to watching the Senators take a 9-4 licking from Lancaster, Pa. And she sat in the press box, another haven considered to be for men only.

Today the Senators shoved off for Allentown, Pa., on a five-day road trip—without inviting their attractive rookie to accompany them.

Curvaceous Eleanor has never played baseball before. She has played a bit of softball.

The reaction?

Eleanor—I love the game. I think more girls should be playing baseball or at least become interested in the sport.

Umpire Bill Angstadt—I if I was umpiring at the plate and she walked up to bat, I'd quit umpiring.

That's all, I'd quit.

Whitney Kuroski, manager of the Allentown Cardinals—if she comes into the game, I'd protest. I don't know why. But I'd protest.

Robert L. Finch, assistant to Minor League Czar George M. Trautman—No rule specifically prohibits signing of women but such a contract would not be approved by this office.

Gerry Nugent, Interstate League president—I'd go slow on this thing.

Howard Gordon, Senators' general manager—Maybe she'll play, maybe she won't. After all, we must abide by the rules as laid down by the powers that be.

George Engle, Eleanor's husband, a carpenter foreman—I was amazed when I heard of it but of course, she has my permission.

Time for Decision on What to Do With Wheat Crop Has Reached Crucial Point

Hints Given To Farmers On Storage

It is expected by some that the large crop of wheat coming on the market will depress the market during and immediately after harvest. These people say wheat prices are likely to fall 25 to 35 cents below loan value during the peak at harvest.

The time for decision as to what to do with the crop is about here. This decision is whether to sell wheat on the market at possibly lower prices, or assume the risks involved in farm storage. These risks are: (1) out-of-condition grain and; (2) insect and rodent contamination.

Wheat should never be stored on the farm unless it is in storable condition and adequate storage structures are provided. Wheat may be regarded as storable if it is sowed, relatively free from foreign material and has a moisture content of 15 per cent or less.

Insect and rodent contamination in stored grain is causing much concern as a result of the recent announcement by the Food and Drug Administration that it intends to enforce a rigid sanitation program.

The food and drug administration is a police force for the consumer's food supply. This agency determines when a food shall be deemed to be adulterated or when it contains any poisonous or harmful substances which may render it injurious to health. Stored grain insects are considered an adulterant. These officials have been working with bakers and millers on a sanitation program for the past two years, however, they found that most of the contamination appeared further back in the distribution system. Consequently their program is being expanded to include terminal and county elevators and indirectly farmers.

Now the point is what can you as a producer of wheat do to protect your farm stored wheat.

Before Putting Grain in Bins

1. Thoroughly clean all bins. Use brooms, hoes, and shovels to clean all grain out of bins. Be sure to clean between partitions, between walls, etc., and try to sweep out all grains stuck in cracks in the floor. Check outside and under granary for grain that might have sifted out of bin, and if any is found, clean it up. Then plug up the holes in the bin.
2. Spray bins with DDT.

After bins have been cleaned, spray all the inside surfaces with DDT. Be sure to spray removable doors, behind false walls, etc.

Apply spray at least two weeks before storing grain.

Use 1 1/2 pints of 25 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate in 2 gallons of water, which makes a 2.5 per cent DDT spray and spray until surfaces are wet, but not until the spray runs off, usually about 2 gallons will spray 1,000 square feet.

Although nearly any type of sprayer can be used, the ordinary 3-gallon compressed-air garden sprayer is as satisfactory as any.

3. Never add new grain on top of old grain.
4. If you have some of last year's wheat left in the bin, feed it up, sell it, or store this year's crop in a different bin. Never put new grain on top of it, and do not store new grain close to it unless the old grain is thoroughly fumigated just before the new crop is stored.
5. Check moisture content before storing wheat.

Do not attempt to store wheat with high moisture content. Take a sample to your local elevator and have the moisture content determined before putting grain in storage. Moisture content of grain for farm storage should be 13 per cent or less.

1. Fumigate wheat 6 to 8 weeks after putting it in storage.
2. This will kill insects brought in from the field, as well as those that moved into the bins. August is an ideal time for this fumigation.
3. Check bins regularly for signs of insect damage.

During warm weather, inspect bins every 2 to 4 weeks. Usually infestations begin near the surface during warm weather, and sifting of sample taken from the surface will indicate whether or not insects are present.

During cold weather, check bins at least once a month. At this time of year, infestations are usually found near the center of the bin. Therefore grain probes, which can be gotten from your elevator, must be used. Do not rely on surface observations during cold weather.

3. Bait for rats and mice as soon as signs are noticed.

Whenever rats or mouse droppings are seen around a granary, it is time to start baiting for them again. Never wait until large numbers are present before starting to get rid of them.

Steel bins and rat - proofed wooden bins are the best solution to the rodent problem.

How to Fumigate a Small Grain Bin

1. What to use:

There are several fumigating materials on the market. All will give good results if used right. A mixed fumigant, usually consisting of carbon tetrachloride mixed with ethylene dichloride, carbonyl disulphide, ethylene dibromide, or trichloroethylene, is recommended. If carbon disulphide is used alone remember to be careful as it presents a fire hazard.

2. How much to use:

The amounts to use vary some what with each bin, depending upon tightness of the bin, moisture content of the grain, presence of dockage and chaff, high winds, high temperatures, diameter of the bins, etc. There are some "rules-of-thumb", however, that will give you an idea how much to use on your bins.

For most of the mixed fumigants, use:

- 2 gallons per 1,000 bushels of grain in steel bins.
- 3 gallons per 1,000 bushels of grain in wooden bins lined with roofing paper.

At Least 250 Attend Grass Silage Day at John Ryan's

By Merle Vaughan

At least 250 people attended the Grass Silage Demonstration and Pasture Tour at John Ryan's last week. By the end of the day around 100 tons of silage had been stored in the trench silo. San Rowe, Extension Animal Husbandman, said grass silage is just another way to put up hay but it is a way that you can get it up in spite of the weather.

Practically every machinery dealer in Sedalia assisted with the demonstration. Four cutters were in operation besides Mr. Ryan's own and those dealers who did not have cutters brought tractors, trucks or wagons to give the program a lift.

Good Results Grass Silage

C. R. Meeker, Extension Economist, told of over 200 folks reporting on their results with grass silage last winter. Results, according to the survey, were almost universally good no matter what kind of silo was used. There seems to be considerable spread in the moisture content of crops that will make satisfactory silage. Specialists do recommend getting the moisture content down to 65 per cent and to use preservative when the mixture ensiled has less than 50 per cent of small grain or grasses. Meeker also emphasized the proper filling and packing of the silo and recommended wetting down the silo walls as it was filled to lessen spoilage along the sides.

More Grass Silage

Grass silage is becoming popular with farmers as a method of preserving roughage. Most county agents have reported that 10 to 20 per cent more grass silage is being put in silos this season. Ensiling is well underway in some counties; others report that work is just starting. The complete picture, however, points to more grass silage with harvest at its peak.

A resolution of independence was adopted by the Colonial Council, July 2, 1776, although the Declaration of Independence was not made public until July 4, 1776.

POPE MANUSCRIPT FOUND
ST. LOUIS — An English professor was browsing through a collection of materials in the Washington University library recently when he discovered the only known manuscript of Alexander Pope's poem, "Windsor Forest," written in Pope's own hand in 1712.

The manuscript is on printer's foolscap, in folio. The pages are 13 by 8½. Schmitz said the manuscript had changed hands several times, finally coming into the hands of the late W. K. Bixby, a St. Louis industrialist. The manuscript, wrapped up along with 100 other items, was given to the University in 1925.

It had been collecting dust in the library ever since.

UN Will Free Civilian PWs Over Protests

MUNSAN, Korea (P)—United Nations truce negotiators told the Communists today that 27,000 Korean civilians will be freed from U. N. prison camps starting next month. The Reds protested immediately, and violently.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il accused the Allies of disposing of war prisoners "unilaterally." He said the Communists never have recognized U. N. reclassification of war prisoners.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison said most of the prisoners to be released were swept into Allied internment camps early in the war and later were found to be South Korean civilians.

He denied Red assertions that the Allies want to keep war prisoners as "cannon fodder."

"The truth is," Harrison said, "that we desire to return the maximum possible number to your side who evidence the slightest willingness to return to your control."

The negotiators made no progress toward solving the last key problem barring a Korean armistice—exchange of prisoners.

They did agree to meet again tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. EST, Monday).

Observers predicted the Communists will protest then the U. N. Command announcement that 45,000 prisoners on Kojie Island are being screened to learn if they will resist repatriation.

All of the 45,000 are among 70,000 the Allies already have listed as wanting to return home, although they had not been screened individually. Another 100,000 who said they would resist repatriation will not be re-screened.

Allied refusal to repatriate prisoners who do not want to return to Communist-held territory is the key point in the prisoner issue.

Harrison told Communist negotiators Monday "some prisoners of war who have now indicated they will forcibly resist repatriation may change their minds when the actual exchange of prisoners of war begins."

"Such an action would be perfectly compatible with our principle of freedom, and any who change their minds will of course be returned to you."

UN Screens 4,000 Prisoners Each Day

KOJIE ISLAND, Korea (P)—The United Nations Command today screened 4,000 North Korean civilian internees on whether they wished to return to their Communist homeland in event of an armistice.

The screening took place without incident in a tent inside a compound. Plans are to screen about 4,000 daily until 45,000 have been questioned.

The 45,000 have been counted by the U. N. Command among the 70,000 POWs they say want to be repatriated. About 100,000 captured Reds have said they would resist repatriation.

The World Today-- Korean War Is 2 Years Old

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (P)—The Korean War is two years old Wednesday. No one any more in a responsible position is offering a quick solution for ending it. Nor is anyone predicting the outcome.

The invasion of South Korea by the North Korean Communists began like a stone dropped in a quiet pool. The ripples are still widening. And Russia, which watched like a fat fox, may have outfoxed itself. And maybe not.

For a year the Korean War has been less than full-scale, although men have died daily. In this year of no ground offensives both sides have pecked away, holding positions, while their truce teams talked of an armistice.

No armistice is in sight. For the past three months in this year of the epic talkathon, the conversations have stalled on one issue: exchange of prisoners. Yet neither side seems anxious to stop talking.

Neither wants responsibility for what follows the end of talking; start of big war again.

In this past year the American Air Force has worked steadily behind the enemy lines to prevent a buildup. But the Chinese have managed to build. They are credited now with being stronger than before the talks began.

This country and its allies talk confidently of being able to stop anything the Chinese throw at them. They have used the year to rebuild forces, too. They do not talk of crushing the Chinese.

They might be able to do so if they were willing to pay the price: far greater casualties; perhaps years of fighting in the heart of Asia, which would drain them; and perhaps war with Russia and start of World War III if Russia moved in to help the Chinese openly.

Crushing China couldn't be done without far more men and supplies than the Allies have been willing to put into Korea, since they need them for defense against Russia in Europe, in case Russia attacks there.

So Russia has the Allies guessing, and has had from the beginning of the Korean shooting. But the shooting started far more than the Russians probably bargained for.

Korea was a starting point for the U. S. and U. N. The arms program began in earnest. So did the Atlantic Pact. So did the rearming of Europe, the idea of a European army, the end of the war with Germany and the decision to let Japan join the European army.

Japan was allowed full sovereignty again, with freedom to rearm, while the U. S. was allowed to use Japan as a military base. The U. S. poured money and supplies into the war against communism in Indochina.

In short, two years ago Russia faced a completely divided and helpless Europe, and a defenseless Asia. Europe still is far from ready for a war with Russia but it has made progress in two years. And communism in Asia hasn't tried any new adventures in two years.

Gen. Eichelberger, Former MacArthur Aid, Backing Ike

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (P)—Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger (ret), top aide to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the occupation of Japan, has voiced his support for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination.

Interviewed by the Asheville Citizen at his home here yesterday, Eichelberger also criticized aspects of the role played in politics by his old chief, MacArthur.

Eichelberger, 66 years old and retired since December, 1948, said he had reached his decision to support Eisenhower after "traveling extensively for eight months and talking to thousands of people."

Eichelberger added: "When one talks personally to farmers, to electricians, and to technicians—the men who constitute the great backbone of this country—one finds an unusual sentiment for Eisenhower and for no other Republican."

Korean Assembly Votes to Keep Rhee Until Get Successor

PUSAN, Korea (P)—Supporters of President Syngman Rhee in the Korean National Assembly today voted to retain him in office until a new President is elected. Anti-Rhee forces boycotted the Assembly session.

The vote was 60 to 0, with 37 assemblymen present not voting. The Assembly, operating under the shadow of martial law proclaimed by Rhee, was scheduled to have elected a new President today.

Instead it set Aug. 15 as the formal date for ending Rhee's term. But if no successor is named, the 77-year-old President could stay in office indefinitely.

Normally Rhee would have gone out of office July 24. The Assembly selected Aug. 15 because he did not assume full powers until Aug. 15, 1948, when the republic accepted sovereignty from the American military government.

Some tribes of Mexican Indians once believed they were descended from trees.

In Hong Kong 3 or 4 Are Suicides Daily

HONG KONG (P)—A Hong Kong newspaper said today three or four persons are committing suicide every day in this British colony because of unemployment and financial difficulties.

The Chinese-owned English language Hong Kong Standard said the figures came from its own survey.

Hong Kong's economy has suffered from the Western blockade of strategic materials to Red China.

6 OUT OF 10 HOSPITAL CASES NEED SURGERY. Bankers Life & Casualty Co. pays any surgeon you choose $5 to $150.00 for care at home, doctor's office, or hospital. If you have a hospital plan which does not provide for doctors' calls or surgeons' fees, you can add the low-cost Medical-Surgical protection to it.

THE RISING RATE OF AUTO ACCIDENTS . . . 37,000 killed and 1,300,000 injured in 1951 alone . . . has made many thousands adopt White Cross protection. Under White Cross, in addition to big hospital and surgical benefits, Bankers Life & Casualty Co. pays up to $200 per month for lost time . . . $300 per month if you're hospitalized.

MAIL COUPON TODAY FOR DETAILS

You can't escape this fact: 1 person from every 2 families is due to be a hospital case THIS YEAR. BUT—you can escape the huge costs of hospital-surgical care, avoid the added cost of borrowing to pay bills . . . by giving your family the protection of this great new, low-cost WHITE CROSS PLAN. Get the complete facts NOW!

NO RATE RAISES

We have never raised rates on people already in this plan. Even if you came in at the child's rate of 75¢ a month, you paid the same since you became an adult and got the same benefits as long as you stayed on the original policy.

WHEN YOU TRY POWER STEERING... HERE'S WHERE TO COME FIRST!

You've heard about it and read about it. Now, if you haven't felt what Power Steering does for you, we invite you to try it first in a Chrysler New Yorker . . . where you will find full-time (not partial) Power Steering! What happens is this . . .

You handle the steering wheel in normal fashion. But 4/5 of all the work is done for you by hydraulic power, constantly at your command. Also, you turn the wheel 1/3 less distance now for every maneuver . . . the feeling you get of utter control is as wonderful as it is new.

Even at a standstill you can turn the wheel easily. Now, parking is shorn of its troubles (and fatigue!) . . . and you can negotiate traffic, awkward drives, and garage doors precisely and with ease.

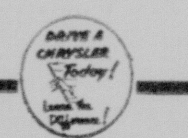

You can double the longest day's drive you've ever known . . . end up free from arm and shoulder strain. Rough roads, soft shoulders, snow, mud? . . . the power that helps you steer now prevents the car's wheels from "steering back" at you. The course you set is held, at any speed, till you want it changed. Yet, with this 5-times greater control, "wheel feel" is always the same.

Why not come try it? Learn for yourself why growing thousands of motorists say they'll never be without Full-time Power Steering from now on. Drive a Chrysler . . . and Learn the Difference!
